Barclays announces settlement with the FCA

LONDON, 26 November 2015 – Barclays has reached a settlement with the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA) following an investigation into whether Barclays carried out the appropriate due diligence in connection with a transaction it executed in 2012.

The FCA has fined Barclays £72,069,400, including the £52,300,000 Barclays received for executing the transaction, for failing to apply the appropriate level of due diligence to the transaction.

The FCA made no finding that Barclays facilitated any financial crime in relation to the transaction or the clients on whose behalf it was executed.

Barclays has cooperated fully with the FCA throughout and continues to apply significant resources and training to ensure compliance with all legal and regulatory requirements.
